

Great Women of Sport Clerihews

Lily Parr:
football star.
The men went off to the First World War
and she took her chance to score.

Martina Navratilova
won Wimbledon over and over.
It was hard to beat her on grass
until along came Steffi Graf.

Jessica Ennis
didn't play tennis.
But competing in another seven
she took the London crowd to heaven.

Simone Biles:
small in size.
But her triple doubles and bodily contortions
make her a gymnast of epic proportions.

by Lorraine Mariner

