

Little moon

Just before it fades away to be reborn, brand new,
like a perfectly manicured fingernail is the waning crescent moon.

It's out of reach, this little moon that shines like polished stone.
But just before it fades, rejoice, as we've ten little moons of our own!

Jackie Hosking

